ANSC 1033	allcodes	ANSC 1032	ANSC 1033
	Proposed Effective Date	Spring 2019	Fall 2020
	Course Number	1032	1033
	Credit Hours	2	3
	Catalog Description	Students will be introduced to biological sciences associated with modern systems of care and management of livestock. Foundation sciences include topics in genetics, growth and development, physiology, nutrition, animal health, and animal behavior.	Students will be introduced to biological sciences associated with modern systems of care and management of livestock. Foundation sciences include topics in genetics, nutrition, reproduction, and animal health. The importance of livestock, equine, and companion animals and their allied industries will also be discussed.
	Justification	admin removal of typically offered from description.	We are proposing to combine ANSC 1032 with ANSC 1041 and ANSC 1051. Presently, students are required to take either ANSC 1041 or ANSC 1051 but not both. By merging the information into ANSC 1033, this will ensure that ANSC students are exposed to a better overview of the different areas of animal science.
	Course Code	ANSC 1032	ANSC 1033
	Is course a General Education Course?		No
	Syllabus		Intro AN Sci 1033 Syllabus (1).docx
	Additional Notes		This merger will reduce the number of course hours and expose students to all of the species involved in the ANSC curriculum and help the ANSC department streamline its introductory courses.

HIST 7123	Proposed Effective Date	Summer 2018	Fall 2020
	Catalog Title	Research Seminar in American History	Research Seminar in History
	Short Course Title	RSCH SMNR IN AMERICAN HIST	RSCH SMNR IN HIST
	Catalog Description	(Formerly HIST 5123.) Research projects in selected fields of American history, such as the Civil War, Antebellum America, etc.	(Formerly HIST 5123.) Research projects in selected fields of history, such as political history, gender history, history of race, etc.
	Justification	Updated typically offered field.	The Department of History is beginning to offer research seminars in topical fields (as opposed to geographic fields) each semester, requiring them for MA students and highly recommending them for PhD students. These courses will be topically based and will allow students the opportunity to research and write substantive papers based on original research earlier in their program than previously. HIST is consolidating all of the research seminars into a single course number (7123) and deleting all other research seminars.

	Catalog Title	Honors Theory	Honors Landscape Architecture Theory
	Short Course Title	HONORS THEORY	LARC HONORS THEORY
	Catalog Description	Introduction to seminal theories in landscape architecture, environmental design and planning. Readings and case studies will be utilized to explore interaction and connection across a range of disciplinary theoretical intersections.	Examination of historic and current theories in landscape architecture and planning to develop critical judgement. Seminar format includes readings and case studies in issues such as social and environmental justice.
	Title/Description Change Type	Minor (stylistic/editorial) Change	Major Content Change
	Justification	Updated typically offered field.	The course title was changed to identify the department. The change of title is to correctly identify the department. The course description and course syllabus has been updated to reflect the new issues facing social and environmental justice.  When I first entered this course, I forgot that it would also be offered in Rome in the summers. This is a correction/update to the original entry.

	Credit Hours	3	2
	Catalog Description	An examination of major themes in American legal history, with an emphasis on the origins and meaning of the United States Constitution. Various topics will be explored in the light of the original understandings, developments over time, and current interpretations by the courts and the body politic.	An examination of major themes in American legal history, with an emphasis on the origins and meaning of the United States Constitution. Various topics will be explored in the light of the original understandings, developments over time, and current interpretations by the courts and the body politic. Course can and will be offered in either a two or three credit hour version. The latter would allow both an increase in the number of topics covered and greater depth of coverage for selected issues.
	Justification	Updated typically offered field.	Requesting variable credit to fit faculty course schedule. Students will learn the intellectual and legal roots of the Constitution. This course has been offered several times as a special topics class for credit hour flexibility. We are submitting it for a permanent variable level catalog number. This course remains part of our curricular offerings.

NURS 5523	Proposed Effective Date	Summer 2019	Summer 2020
	Catalog Description	Explores standards and principles for selecting, using, and evaluating information systems. Discusses the application of computer programs relevant to nursing administration, education, research, and practice. Assists the student in managing individual and aggregate information, and assessing the efficacy of patient care technology appropriate to a specialized area of nursing practice.	Prepares graduate students to serve as leaders in the utilization of information systems and technology to support and improve education, patient care, and healthcare systems. Assists students in evaluating and integrating qualified technologies into various practice settings. Students will explore current and emerging trends in Healthcare Informatics and their legal, ethical, and political implications.
	Justification	This course is more suited to the shorter time frame, and the summer offering allows other courses to be moved to fall.	Course Description, Course Objectives, and Content Outline were updated to better reflect the accreditation standards for the MSN and DNP students taking the course. Language was updated to reflect current terminology and use of Informatics by the graduate Nurse.

	Cross-listed with:	Principles of Plant Pathology	Principles of Plant Pathology Principles of Plant Pathology
	Justification	Admin update to department owner reflect merger of ENTO and PLPA into one department.	Our program is proposing to our college curriculum committee to split PLPA/BIOL 3004, Principles of Plant Pathology, into separate lecture (which would be 3 credit hours) and laboratory (which would be 1 credit hour) courses. Enrollment in the lecture would not require the lab during the same semester, however, enrollment in the lab would be dependent on whether the lecture has been successfully completed in a prior semester or as co-requisites during the same semester. . We would continue to cross-list as both PLPA and BIOL.
