Program Goals and Objectives

Program Goals and Objectives

All B.M. students complete a core music curriculum of multiple courses (64 credits) in music theory, aural perception, music history, and piano proficiency. These courses provide students a basic set of tools and vocabulary to communicate about music. These courses also introduce students to paths of exploration and understanding within individual musical works and entire repertoires.

These courses along with 24 concentration credits aim for musical literacy, solo and ensemble performance skills, development of aural skills, understanding of a broad repertoire, attainment of analytical skills, and understanding of music history.

Jazz Studies Concentration - This concentration includes the same 64 hours of music core courses as other Bachelor of Music concentrations. The Jazz Studies concentration, like the other concentrations, has the shared objectives of musical literacy, development of aural skills, understanding of a broad repertoire, attainment of analytical skills, and understanding of music history. Uniquely, this concentration seeks to develop a high level of competency in jazz performance, and in improvisation, composition and arranging skills. It also strives to prepare individuals to analyze jazz music and understand the literature and historical and cultural context of jazz. ~~N/A Existing Program~~

Description and justification of the request

Description of specific change	Justification for this change
--------------------------------	-------------------------------

Description of specific change	Justification for this change
Creation of a Jazz Studies Concentration within the B.M. in Music degree.	Over the last three years, the music department has hired four faculty members with jazz specialties with the purpose of offering more jazz courses to our students and create a strong Concentration in Jazz Studies. The addition of a jazz studies concentration for the Bachelor of Music degree will play a significant role in the growth of the Music Department and the University's strategic plan to enrich campus diversity and inclusion. By complementing our existing programs based largely in the European art music tradition with a broader range of course offerings on the African American-based jazz idiom, this new will enhance our department's capacity to both recruit a student body with a greater diversity of musical and cultural backgrounds and to educate all our students on a wider range of musical possibilities and forms of expression. The proposed jazz concentration will also open new career pathways to our students; they will have opportunities to pursue jazz-related careers and a variety of other options, as musical skills like improvisation and arranging that are central to the proposed curriculum translate easily from jazz to numerous popular music contexts, including rock, rhythm and blues, hip hop, country, bluegrass, film, and television music.
Changing the layout in the catalog copy.	In order to make the program requirements more clear and consistent across the B.M. in Music.
